VOLTURNO'S CREW LEFT BOAT FIRST BEHAVING BADLY, SAY PASSENGERS

LOSS OF LIFE LIMITED TO 156

Details of Disaster That Overcame the Steamer Volturmo.

CREW FIRST TO LEAVE SHIP

First Definite News of the Burning in Mid-ocean of the Vessel Is Received at New York by the Uranian Steamship Line—Eleven Vessels Took Active Part in the Work of Rescue. Story of the Horror.

New York, Oct. 13.—The first definite news of the burning of the steamship Volturmo in mid-ocean, of the death by fire or drowning of 134 of her passengers and crew and of the rescue by 11 steamships of 533 men, women and children was received by the Uranian steamship line.

The Rappahannock, one of the 11 ships that came up in time to assist in the perilous work of rescue, transmitted by wireless the first list of names of persons saved. She is on her way to Halifax with 15 women and four children.

Unless these women and children were transferred from the Rappahannock to another ship in the neighborhood, they will be taken to Halifax and will arrive there tomorrow. The Rappahannock's wireless expressed the hope that she could arrive on schedule time. The Furness, Withy & Company ship reported that approximately 70 or 80 had perished, but at the same time reported 112 to be missing. On the other hand, Captain Barr of the Carmania places the number of rescued at 521, which would seem to mean that the loss of life is 136, including the two boatloads of immigrants who escaped being dashed against the Volturmo's side, but who it is believed now were soon after ward swallowed up in the terrific gale that was raging.

The 11 ships—the name of an additional member of the international rescuing squadron, the oil tank steamship New York, was supplied by a wireless message from the Grosse Kurfuerst—searched the ocean unavailingly long after the last of the Volturmo's survivors had been taken off the burning ship. The storm was so great that the captains of the 11 ships have given up for lost the passengers of the two missing lifeboats.

Explosion Killed Forty.

The wireless dispatch received from the Grosse Kurfuerst supplied with disappointing brevity some of the essential details. It told of a great explosion which killed 40 of the crew and passengers, of the disappearance into the storm of two boatloads of passengers with about 100 in them and of the number of survivors that had been taken on the various rescuing ships. The dispatch read:

"Four Volturmo boats smashed. Forty persons were drowned; two boats with 100 souls are missing. Forty men were killed by the explosion. The Touraine has 42 survivors; the Narragansett 28, the New York 18, the Seydlitz 46, mostly women and children; the Devonian 60, the Kronland 50, including Captain Inch, who is wounded; the chief engineer, two officers and the two wireless operators; the Kurfuerst 100, including officers and engineers; the Carmania 1, the Czar 92, including the doctor and the purser, the Minneapolis, the Rappahannock 18."

The Uranian line received from the Carmania the text of a wireless message that had been sent by Captain Barr of the Carmania to his office in Liverpool. It was as follows:

"The Volturmo is floating abaze at the fore end. Her masts and funnel are standing. Northwest gale moderating. The records are incomplete. Only one survivor here. It is supposed that the ship's crew attempted to start here on the ship's boats present. The arrival of the steamships."

Seeing that the use of small boats was futile, Captain Barr worked the Carmania as close to the Volturmo's stern as it was possible to get her. He hoped to be able to cast a life line, but efforts in that direction were nullified by the gale. It was too hazardous to attempt to lay the Carmania any closer to the Volturmo in such a storm. The passengers of the Carmania were greatly affected by the scene before their eyes. They saw plainly hundreds of the Volturmo's passengers collected in the afterpart of the ship and they heard above the noise of the gale the cries for help. At that time the Volturmo was only afire at the forepart, but the flames were working steadily aft, despite Captain Inch's efforts to keep the Volturmo turned with the wind.

When the fire reached the boiler and engine rooms of the Volturmo the wireless apparatus of the ship was practically crippled. The Carmania assumed charge of the wireless situation and sent out repeated S. O. S. calls. Many steamers had heard already the Volturmo's call for help and were steaming toward her as rapidly as possible. The Grosse Kurfuerst arrived first and was followed at almost hourly intervals by other ships which finally composed the rescuing fleet.

Dozens of lifeboats from the rescuing fleet maneuvered about the stern of the Volturmo, awaiting their turn to take off passengers. Captain Inch and the Volturmo's officers rigged life lines at the stern of their ship and sent down these lines women and children first of all. The men of the passenger list were lowered into the small boats and finally the crew and the officers abandoned the ship. It happened that several of the rescuing fleet had more small boats near the Volturmo than others had, and this accounted for the fact that some of the steamers are carrying more survivors than others.

The work of rescue was accomplished with splendid courage and discipline. It is reported also that the officers of the Volturmo managed to keep good order among the terrified passengers.

Immediately after the ship had been abandoned the 11 rescuing steamers began to search the ocean for the two lifeboats of the Volturmo that disappeared into the storm on Thursday with nearly 100 passengers. Each ship went on a short cruise, the steamships taking different directions, and the ocean was searched thoroughly for many miles. It was fruitless. No glimpse of the boats could be had. There was no trace of wreckage. There were no floating bodies. Captain Barr assumed that the lifeboats had been driven many miles by the gale and that they had been capsized and that their passengers had perished.

Crew First to Leave.

Walter Trintepohl swam to the Carmania and was rescued in an exhausted condition. Since being taken aboard the Carmania Trintepohl has been in the ship's hospital, threatened with pneumonia. He told his story to Arthur Spurgeon, a passenger on the

Mrs. Eaton, Widow of Poisoned Rear Admiral, Goes on Trial On Oct. 14 for Murdering Him

Bingham, Mass., Oct. 13.—The trial of Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, widow of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, accused of poisoning him to death seven months ago at their home at Assinippi, is scheduled to start here on October 14. The county authorities state that there is sensational evidence which has not yet been published and which will come out at the trial. Miss Dorothy Ainsworth and Mrs. C. P. Keyes, daughters of Mrs. Eaton by a former marriage, will be important witnesses. The case is likely to again attract nationwide interest.

PROGRESSIVE IS CALLED TO REWARD SUNDAY EVENING FAMOUS BULL MOOSE DIES IN NEW YORK

Timothy Woodruff, Republican Leader, Passes Away.

New York, Oct. 13.—Timothy L. Woodruff died Sunday evening of paralysis. He was stricken while making a speech two weeks ago. He was lieutenant governor of New York for three terms (1897-1903), and was born at New Haven, Conn., on Aug. 4, 1858. He was the son of John Woodruff, who was a Connecticut congressman from 1855 to 1865 and Harriet J. Lester. He traced his descendants on his father's and mother's side to the earliest settlers of the Nutmeg state.

Mr. Woodruff took up his residence in Brooklyn in the spring of 1881 and entered politics in the same year when he joined the Brooklyn Young Men's Republican club.

At the Republican national convention in 1908 Mr. Woodruff made the speech nominating the late James S. Sherman for vice president.

Mr. Woodruff's first venture in official life was as park commissioner of Brooklyn in 1896. In 1908 Mr. Woodruff was nominated and elected lieutenant governor.

In 1912 Mr. Woodruff went into the Bull Moose movement with much vigor and became the leader of the National Progressive party in Kings. Once asked if politics had cost him as much as $35,000, Mr. Woodruff, who was very wealthy, smiled and said "Perhaps 10 times that amount."

GRIM TRAGEDY AT CLEVELAND

Farmer Residing Near Xenia and an Insurance Man Are Killed When the Car in Which They Were Riding Is Smashed Near Springfield by a Train—Akron Physician Loses Life When Hit by a Car.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—While trying to save an automobile party of five from collision with a Nickel Plate passenger train, Patrick McGovern, 65, a watchman, was run down and killed by the train at a crossing in Collinwood. McGovern stood in the middle of the tracks, frantically waving a red flag, and the driver of the automobile came to a stop only three feet from the track. The engine was unable to stop in time and McGovern was instantly killed.

When the train had passed by, the auto party started on, but passengers from the train, which was brought to a stop, called an ambulance to take care of the old man's body. He had been employed by the Nickel Plate for 10 years. It is believed that in his efforts to stop the automobile he forgot he was standing between the rails.

Struck by Streetcar. Akron, O., Oct. 13.—Thrown from the automobile which he was driving when struck by a limited Akron, Bedford and Cleveland car, Dr. H. C. Theiss, well known in Summit county, received injuries from which he died eight hours later. Dr. Theiss' view of the car tracks was cut off by buildings. He did not see the approaching car. Dr. Theiss' skull was fractured. He was taken to a hospital.

CANADIAN AND STATE OFFICIALS ARE ALL UNITED

IN DECEMBER

Fourth American Good Roads Congress Will Meet in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 13.—The fourth American good roads congress will be held in the First Regiment armory here on Dec. 9, 10, 11 and 12, in connection with the tenth annual convention of the America Road Builders' association. Governor Tener has sent invitations to the governors of every other state and to the lieutenant governors of the Canadian provinces to appoint three delegates to this convention. The exhibition of methods, materials and machinery to be held in connection with the congress will surpass that of any previous year. Many of the machinery exhibits will consist of large units, such as traction engines, rollers, trucks, etc., which will be shown outside the exhibition hall.

ISSUES VIGOROUS STATEMENT

Declares That the Alleged Efforts of the Equity Association to involve the State Administration in the Meekison Case Deserves Human Contempt—Synopsis of the Governor's Statement.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—Challenging the Ohio Equity association to publish any scrap of information it might possess reflecting upon a single one of his acts since he became chief executive of Ohio, and adding to the challenge that insinuations are the tactics of the coward and bushwhacker, Governor Cox came forth with an unusual statement in which he takes cognizance of alleged reflections cast upon him and other state officials.

The statement issued by Governor Cox was inspired by a letter to a local newspaper in which reference was made to the Meekison case and "the state machine."

The governor declares he never has given any attention to the "insidious and anonymous efforts of the Equity association to involve the state administration in the Meekison affair, because I thought it would dignify a procedure which deserves human contempt." Governor Cox refers to an anonymous circular which he says is being distributed throughout the state, and says it contains artful insinuations and mentions the names of himself, Secretary of State Graves and Attorney General Hogan. He attributes the circular to the combined efforts of agents of the Equity league. "Instead of an attack being made on the laws, cowardly insinuations have been made against the official integrity of the chief executive of this commonwealth and other state officials," says the governor in speaking of the opposition to the existence of certain laws and the efforts made to defeat them. He says he has fought "these frenzied interests with a full understanding of the importance of dealing vigorously the blow of ex-

Men Cut Bee Tree Are Run to Earth

Sly Concord Township Farmer Seizes Bloodhounds and Runs Men Down Who Cut His Valuable Timber.

GUILTY PARTIES ESCAPE BY PAYING LIBERALLY

Woman Confesses When Dog Stops at Door and Another Party Who Assisted in the Work is Brought to Light—An Expensive Bee Tree.

There are two men in the Selden neighborhood who agree that cutting bee trees on the premises of another man is expensive work.

The two men are Clint Parkinson and Fred Rickman, who reside about one mile from the Caleb Johnson farm near Selden.

Sunday morning Mr. Johnson discovered that a valuable tree had been cut during the night, and a quantity of honey removed from a hollow where a big swarm of bees had taken refuge a few months ago.

He immediately sent for the Cedarville bloodhounds and when the trainer brought one of the animals it was not slow in picking up the trail and carrying it to the home of Fred Rickman.

"We want the honey you have in the house," said Chief McCoy, who had been summoned. The woman who stood at the door denied that there was any honey in the house, whereupon Chief McCoy went in and found a large quantity of the sweetness.

The woman then confessed, and is said to have implicated Parkinson, who was later visited by the officers.

Monday morning the two men came to this city and a compromise was brought about, the men paying for the tree, the cost of securing the dogs, and attorney fees, and other costs totaling about $40 or $50.

MAMMOTH APPLES ARE ON DISPLAY

Mr. W. A. Tharp is in receipt of a shipment of six huge apples sent to him by Harry Dore, a former resident of this county, who is now in Rice, Idaho, and were shipped from LaGrange, Oregon. They are the famous "Irrigated" apples which have become world famous.

Each of the huge fellows weighs nearly two pounds, three of them being weighed at Christopher's drug store, and tipping the scales between five and six pounds.

Mr. Tharp has placed the fruit in his store window and pedestrians by the hundred have stopped to view the big, juicy fellows, each of which is nearly as large as a quart measure.

In a letter accompanying the shipment, Mr. Dore states that the sample of what the fruit region of the far west can produce may be of interest to Fayette apple growers.

BICYCLE THIEF GOES TO THE PEN

Orin Leakley, one of the two young men arrested in this city a few weeks ago on a charge of stealing bicycles in Chillicothe and disposing of them in this city, has been sentenced to the penitentiary for from one to seven years, depending upon his behavior.

Leakley was not sentenced upon the charge preferred against him in this city, but on a previous charge of stealing a motorcycle. The man and a companion named Wm. Wolfe, stole a motorcycle several months ago, and Wolfe was sentenced to the penitentiary. Leakley offered to plead guilty a few days ago and was sentenced by Judge Goldsberry.

Leakley and his companion in this city were arrested through the clever work of Dan DeLong, a bicycle dealer of Chillicothe, and by Chief McCoy. The other young man still faces the charge preferred against him.

BRIDGE NEEDS IMMEDIATE REPAIR

While an aged man was crossing the West Court street bridge Sunday evening he stepped aside to permit two women to pass, and when the women were in the act of passing they stepped upon a loose board which turned and tripped the man, throwing him violently to the floor of the bridge and painfully injuring him.

Persons passing over the West Court street bridge walks, have been complaining for some time about the condition of the floor, which has become really dangerous, particularly in the darkness when the pedestrian cannot see clearly.

MRS. HARRY HETTINGER BURIED MONDAY

Funeral services of Mrs. Harry Hettinger were held at the home at half-past one o'clock Monday afternoon and the remains were interred in the Washington cemetery.

Mrs. Hettinger's death occurred at about a week Saturday night, following a long illness. A woman of loving character, her death brings sadness to many friends and untold sorrow to her husband and two sons, William and Lloyd, aged 14 and 16.

Hartman Theater

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 20, 21, 22, with matinee Wednesday, the Hartman theater will offer a new comedy with Miss May Robson as star. Miss Robson occupies a unique position on the American stage, no other actress ever having approached her in the delineation of eccentric old women characters. Her "Renovation of Aunt Mary" in which she was last seen here was a treat long to be remembered. Her coming visit will be a welcome one, therefore, and since it is the first time in several years that she has played in Columbus, everyone will want to see her.

"PRESENT PERIL" OF THE WOMEN

Rev. Gage Delivers Sermon on Timely Topic Sunday Evening—Church Enters Upon Its Second Century of Work in This City.

The Presbyterian church entered upon the first Sunday of its second century most auspiciously, with large congregations both morning and evening and deep interest.

The centennial communion was observed in the morning and at the close of the church the session received fifteen new members.

Mrs. Welter Shoop contributed a beautiful solo to the special music rendered by the choir at the morning service.

In the evening the pastor, Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage, delivered a strong sermon on "Present Peril of Women," from which is taken an excerpt.

"Society has recently been repeatedly shocked by the perpetration of heinous crimes, in which women have been the victims and it has been made manifest that the world holds vicious criminals who prey upon the sex, not stopping even at the extreme of shedding blood in the prosecution of their plans. And coming as it does at the close of a period in which a series of investigations have revealed the existence of a most nefarious but highly organized business, whose gains come from the enslavement and enslavement of girls, we find American womanhood in a state of perturbation and fear."

But it is a privilege to proclaim the advent of an age in which the discrete woman possesses the portion of a protection never before accorded her sex. In the ocean of her life almost every shoal has been charted, every reef located, every harbor of safety and haven of relief plainly shown. There has come to her a wealth of warning; there has been placed before her such a complete exposure of the methods of her traducers and seducers, that does she come to disaster, she is as a ship steering straight for the lighthouse whose beacon gleams with a red warning, and ignoring the fact that it is kindled to keep her away.

Yet shall we weep for the dancing teacher, lured to the lonely prairie and by the assassin's bullet killed? Yes, surely any grave, even be it in a potter's field, calls for a tear. It is saddening and sorrowing to think of such a fate for any woman. And doubly so when the crime itself is double, that of murder, staining the soul of the murderer, and an inexcusable folly, prompting the victim to venture on a walk with a man whose fictitious name she had known but a day, and to whom she had never been introduced.

He reports the acquaintance to have been easy. And undoubtedly it was so. No one who walks with open eye through the world can fail to have discerned an eagerness upon the part of many girls to use all the arts and wiles of young womanhood that the acquaintance of a stranger may be gained, or a readiness to reciprocate such overtures when made in an engaging manner, and by one of gentle and pleasing appearance.

And there is about it all such a tang of adventure, it is such jolly good fun—this flirting, if I may give it its distinguishing name, is such an attractive diversion, that it seems almost a shame to preach against it. Yet woman needs to fear, not primarily the murderers' bludgeon, or the fan and tooth of the human wolf, but rather that innate quality of her disposition, which makes her such easy prey to the plans of designing men. This constitutes her greatest peril in the present. And it is the great thing upon which emphasis of sermon and teaching of the home must be laid, that the promise of lovely girlhood may be fulfilled in mature life.

Our girls fill every town. They crowd the streets of every city, and straying from the path of rectitude and virtue, become a terrible peril, an awful pest, and the very greatest menace with which the age has to contend. If the bad man is a wolf, threatening the prairies, the bad woman is a tigress, issuing from her through life's jungles, in that stealthy, insidious, deadly stalking of her prey, that in the past has undermined nations, and wrought more ruin than the tongue can tell. God save our girls. God protect our womanhood. God keep them, shield them, and so teach them to protect themselves by ordinary caution, that they may fulfill their mission in life."

Rev. Gage is a thorough believer in the helpfulness of a Young Women's Christian Association and expressed his hope that in the near future this branch would be established here and mean as much to young women as the Y. M. C. A. has to young men.

DANGEROUS CROSSING IS DREADED BY ALL

The North Street B. & O. crossing regarded as the most dangerous in the city, has been the scene of a number of near-accidents recently, when persons driving at that point barely succeeded in avoiding being run down by the B. & O. trains.

The warning bell at the crossing is somewhat misleading, as it rings only when a train is on the main track, so that the unwary may be struck by a freight on the siding while watching for the faster trains on the main track.

When the bell was first installed it sounded its warning note whenever a train touched the main track or siding within the limits of the electric apparatus, but later the wiring was changed so that only the main track was wired.

The demand for a watchman to supplant the warning bell is increasing among those who travel North street.

AND HITS BRIDGE ABUTMENT

Hair Breadth Escape a Warning to Motorists Who Travel the Finest Piece of Highway in Fayette Co.—Scene of Accident is One of the Most Dangerous Points in County.

The Smiths, of Jeffersonville, narrowly escaped having his brains dashed out against the abutment of a small bridge near the Judy School house on the Devalon road Sunday afternoon about two o'clock, when his motorcycle left the road while going a terrific speed and leaping over the abutment at one side of the bridge, darted across the open space to the next abutment where the machine crashed into the stone work and was wrecked, while Smith was hurled through the air for more than 60 feet, alighting in a heap on the grass at the roadside.

Smith and a companion were enjoying a spin on the newly completed road, and in attempting to make the sharp turn at the bridge he saw that he would strike the bridge unless the course of his machine was changed, and he coolly turned aside from the bridge, barely missing the structure, grazing a telephone pole and leaping the gulch below.

When the machine crashed into the abutment it was completely wrecked, and in some miraculous manner Smith was thrown from his seat, missed the abutment by a hair's breadth and was thrown into space as above described.

Strange to say, the man was not seriously injured, although badly bruised and scratched up where he struck the ground.

Persons visiting the scene a short time afterward stepped the distance from the point where the motorcycle crashed into the abutment to where Smith fell upon the ground, and it required twenty steps to cover the distance.

The machine was brought to Van Pelt's garage for repairs.

The point where the accident occurred is an exceedingly dangerous one, and a number of accidents have recently taken place. With an improved strip of road at either end of the bridge, the place becomes doubly dangerous.

FASHION DEMANDS SHORT
FROCKS FOR AFTERNOON

EMBROIDERED SATIN GOWN

Afternoon frocks are extremely short, as in this case where the draped skirt is drawn up to give an ample view of the feet. The gown is of charmeuse, the bodice embroidered in tiny beads and paste stones. Pearl buttons trim the garment. The very chic little hat worn with it is of velvet and satin, the smart aigret being set under the tilted side brim.

OHIOANS ROBBED

New York, Oct. 13.—Two young men held up an auto party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Hildreth, John G. and Mrs. Williams of Cincinnati and Ed-ward Hildreth, Mr. Hildreth's brother, at Jerome avenue, and robbed the men of $35 in cash and their watches and jewelry. Mr. Hildreth is one of the publishers of a motor magazine.

Bells Case Will Collapse.

Kleft Oct. 13.—The belief that the prosecution of the Jew Bells, on trial on a charge of "ritual murder," will be abandoned and that the entire case will collapse, is growing here. The main witness for the prosecution, Phakhousky, failed to confirm his original depositions.

MEXICO CITY SITS
OVER A VOLCANO
AWAITING OUTCOME

Mexico City, October 13.—There has been endless speculation here regarding the effect of Provisional President Huerta's coup d'etat.

Many appear to believe that the big result will be a split in the army, which they assert has only been held together by the force of General Huerta's personality.

They argue that there has been dissatisfaction over Huerta's course in general and that this will test loyalty to the danger point. They look for startling developments in the near future.

On the other hand, there is a large element which believes that President Huerta took the only possible course, and expresses wonder that he had not taken the step long ago. Huerta's friends say that it is no secret that had the Deputies believed any substantial part of the army would stand with them they would have overridden Huerta completely and taken the reins of government wholly in their hands.

The Minister of the Interior, Manuel Garza Aldape, issued the following announcement yesterday: "The Deputies who have been arrested and imprisoned cannot be released on any writ. They will be tried for the various offenses of which they are accused. Not one of them has been released by the government to date. They will be treated well while in confinement."

The dissolution of Congress will not affect the holding of the elections in the least. The ballots will be cast in October. The only change in the election program will be that new Senators and Deputies will be elected to replace those put out of office in the coup d'etat.

PROCEEDS FOR BENEVOLENT WORK

WILLIAM PATTERSON
LAID TO REST

A high tribute was paid to the late William J. Patterson in the immense concourse of business men, farmers and friends, who gathered at the residence on the Columbus pike Saturday afternoon for his funeral services.

Rev. Thomas, of the Bloomingburg M. E. church conducted the services. From personal acquaintance he spoke with deep appreciation of the deceased.

Miss Edith Gardner sang sweetly the hymns, "Asleep in Jesus," and "Sometime We'll Understand."

There were beautiful flowers from relatives and friends, including the class of 1913, W. H. S., which sent a double spray of roses and carnations.

A long train of carriages wound its way to the Bloomingburg cemetery, where the remains were placed in the family lot.

The relatives here to attend the funeral were: Mr. F. E. Patterson, the son, Kingfisher, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Workman, three daughters, Columbus; Mr. Jess Workman, Crestonburg, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Jennings and daughter, Bertha, of Circleville; Mr. Robert J. Patterson, wife and son, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Patterson, Wilmington; Mrs. Albert Harper, Mrs. Alice Workman, Mr. C. W. Harper, Mrs. Sanford Castle, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Winiford; Mrs. Alma Mathews, Greenfield; Mrs. John Shields, Wellston.

HANDSOME SOUVENIR OF MAJOR MALLOW

Exhibited in the window of the Palace Cigar Store on Court street are a lap robe and pair of top gloves made from the skin of the grand old campaigner, Major Mallow, whose sudden death on the fair grounds last spring was felt to be an uncomparable loss to Fayette county.

Mr. Wert Mallow, owner of Major Mallow, had the skin of the beloved horse tanned and made into the rug and gloves as a present for his mother. The skin was tanned by a noted tanner, Frank Martin, in Milwaukee, Wis., and makes a robe that is as beautiful as it is valued.

The skin of a rich brown that shines like satin, shows the mark where the saddle pad rested and the alabaster white spot and black mane. It has a double lining of brown and green felt. The gloves, made of the same skin, completes a very handsome outfit.

Now for the Winter League

The baseball season of 1913, so far as the big leagues are concerned, has come to a close. The end came, when Manager McGraw of the New York team, champions of the National league, strode across the Polo grounds in New York city, and in the presence of thirty-five thousand fans, who cheered their approval, grasped the hand of one, Cornelius McGillicuddy, known to fame as "Connie Mack," and acknowledged the supremacy of the Athletics.

For the third time the Athletics are world's champions and for the third time the New York Giants failed in their attempt in the final series to reach the coveted goal.

The end, when it came, was dramatic in the extreme, "baseballically" speaking. The two old masters of the pitchers' art, Matthewson and Plank, gave to the lovers of the game an exhibition of what brain and brawn combined with clean living and honesty and sincerity of purpose can accomplish.

These two heroes of the game, each now near the forty year milestone in life's journey, old for baseball players, and each one of them with more than a dozen years of hard service to his credit in the big leagues, pitched the games of their careers during the short series.

The contests between these masters of the art of ball playing ended ideally. Each won a game and each lost a game and each one pitched two grand games.

Followers of the game all over the land acknowledge that the best team won the highest honors. The mistakes made by the losers are, of course, emphasized by defeat while those made by the victors are lost sight of in the bright light of final victory.

The old stars shone forth again in all their splendor and the same players who fell short before again proved unequal to the demand made upon them.

The result of the series probably means that, after four years of remarkable work during which three national league pennants have been won, the New York team will be dismantled and rebuilt. New players will be added and several now on the line-up have appeared in the uniform of the New York Nationals for the last time.

Around the stoves this winter the games will be played over and over, the praises of the participants sung again and again. The Athletics will, in all probability enter another fight as at present constituted.

The New York Giants will be dismantled. The work of years, splendid as it has been, is a little short of that perfection which the baseball public demands.

The winter league now holds the center of the stage. It is safe to say that many years will roll by ere two masters like Matthewson and Plank will contest in a world's series and both crown years of faithful, able service with a stirring victory under ideal stage settings.

Poetry For Today

IF WE KNEW.

Could we but draw back the curtains
That surround each other's lives,
See their naked heart and spirit,
Know what spur the action gives,
Clened we should find it better,
Purer than we judge we should—
We should love each other better,
If we only understood.

Could we judge all deeds by motives,
See the good and bad within,
Often we should love the sinner,
All the while we loathe the sin.
Could we know the powers working
To overthrow integrity,
We should judge each other's errors
With more patient charity.

If we knew the care and trials,
Knew the effort all in vain,
And the bitter disappointment,
Understood the loss and gain;
Would the grim external roughness
Seem, I wonder, just the same?
Would we help where now we hinder?
Would we pity where we blame?

Ah! we judge each other harshly,
Knowing not life's hidden force—
Knowing not the fount of action
Is less turbid at its source:
Seeing not amid the evil
All the golden grains of good,
Oh! we'd love each other better
If we only understood.

—Tid Bits

Better Than Calomel

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. adv

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS

(By John E. M. Kerr.)

Although Argentina has about 20,000,000 head of cattle, there has been no increase in the last four years. The recent meat shipments to this country from Argentine met with such a cordial reception that the packers of that country plan to increase imports.

In 1913, there were 743 establishments turning out automobiles, bodies and accessories. The value totals the immense sum of $249,999,999. Michigan is the leading state in the industry.

An elaborate and well staged version of Longfellow's "Evangeline" has been produced at the Park theater, New York, with Miss Edna Goodrich in the title role. The play is in 10 beautiful scenes beginning with a prologue in the forest primeval and finally ending in the almshouse. Evangeline in this elaborate production is a pageant, not a drama, a solemn and rather slow going moving panorama of the story which does not call so much for acting as for effective poses, grouping and backgrounds, says the New York Tribune. As a spectacle, however, it is all that can be desired, and the leading parts make attractive pictures.

J. D. Whelpley writing about the much discussed question of the tariff, made the following surprising statement in the century magazine: That whereas a 100 years ago when the U. S. imported less than $1,000,000 worth of products with a population of 7,000,000, less than 10 per cent of the goods came in free of duty, in 1912, with a population of over 90,000,000 and imports of nearly $700 millions, about 4 per cent came in duty free.

Mayor Shank of Indianapolis is arranging to repeat his famous potato sales of two years ago. The local potato market is about as it was then with potatoes selling in Michigan at 50 cents per bushel and the retail price around $1.40 and the wholesale about $1.05. At the same time merchants refused to ship because the market was filled. The Mayor has been in Michigan lately and arranged for all he can use. It is also understood he has spoken for a large supply of turkeys for the Thanksgiving trade.

An envelope feeder has been invented for use with typewriters by which the package of envelopes does not have to be touched from the time it is put in until each envelope is addressed. The ordinary motion of the carriage causes the envelopes one by one to be put in place for addressing.

Butler Brothers, mail order house of Chicago and New York, is increasing its capital stock from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 by cutting a million to its stockholders.

One dollar a month for each cow milked is the saving which the dairyman can accomplish by the use of an electric milking machine according to a paper on electrified farming read before a Seattle Electric convention. Eight times out of ten the salesman who is trying to sell an electric milking machine proves that 75 per cent of the cost of milking is given back as net profits and the output of milk is cheaper and cleaner.

BOOSTS EXPECTED

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—Large increases in the valuations of telephone and telegraph companies are expected to be announced this week by the state tax commission. It was intimated that a tentative increase of $1,500,000 has been fixed on the property of the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell company, which last year was appraised at $8,849,560. An increase of $150,000 on the property of the Toledo Home Telephone company also is contemplated.

A GLIMPSE BACK THROUGH YEARS

(John E. M. Kerr.)

January 18, 1872.

Fayette county has 25 free turnpikes. This short sentence is going the rounds of the press in this state. We have commented on it once, but it will bear another turn of the spit. It is not yet 5 years since our people commenced making the roads. At first, one was commenced, against which great opposition was manifested, on the grounds alone of too much taxation. But it was no sooner under way than another, and then another, was put under contract. The soreheads were, at first, raving mad, but as they perceived the benefit derived from the good piked roads in contrast with the old mud beds through which they used to wallow to mill and market with their horses legs knee deep, they abated their opposition, and growlers now see it as others did, and have ceased to grumble. Indeed they now say they would not go back to the old state of things under any consideration. There is not a man in the county willing to exchange free turnpikes for the money they have cost him and be set back again in the mud.

At the Fayette County Teachers' Association at this place Saturday the calligraphy on "Woman's Rights" by Lizzie Dahl, Ida Getz, Lizzie Wendel, Lillian Gray, Mary Stevens and W. B. Carpenter, proved conclusively to all that men and women have their own peculiar work to do, which neither can profitably exchange with that of the other sex.

We had a pleasant call last Saturday from Mr. F. A. Draper, local reporter of the Portsmouth, Ohio, Tribune. Mr. D. with his wife has been spending a few days past on a visit to her father, Mr. Trustin Adams, of this county.

We Mustn't Disregard Lessons

of the Past to Try New Ideas

By MAITRE LABORI,

French Lawyer Who Defended Dreyfus

THE west is a little young in the United States perhaps, but I don't know. It is at most an impression. However, as I traveled east in the United States from St. Paul to Chicago, to New York and New England, the country SEEMED TO GROW OLDER every day. And the older a country gets the MORE IT LEARNS—though the lessons are sometimes costly ones—to cherish the fundamental guarantees established for the protection of its liberty—the more respect it has, let us say, for courts and constitution.

The methods which lead to success in one sphere of endeavor may well ruin a nation in another. It is because you are NOT BOUND BY TRADITIONS, because you are willing to try new ideas and new ways of doing things, that your material progress has been so marvelous. But—and this is important—it was NEW INVENTION WHICH MADE THE NEW IDEAS AND NEW METHODS FEASIBLE, if not imperative. Electricity and steam are new tools to mankind, the weapons of modern progress. They are new, but the factor of political progress is man himself, and no new kind of man has arisen. MAN HAS NOT CHANGED. He evolves slowly and imperceptibly.

IF A NEW RACE OF MAN COULD BE BORN OVERNIGHT AS SUPERIOR TO US AS STEEL AND ELECTRICITY ARE TO WOOD AND BEASTS OF BURDEN, THEN THE POLITICAL LIFE OF A NATION MIGHT MAKE PROGRESS AS ASTOUNDING AS THE MATERIAL DEVELOPMENT OF YOUR EVERYDAY SURROUNDINGS. BUT IF WITH THE MAN OF TODAY, THE ONLY TOOL THE BODY POLITIC HAS, WE VENTURE TO DISREGARD THE LESSONS OF THE PAST AND TRY NEW IDEAS AND NEW WAYS WE SHALL FALL INTO CHAOS.

and denunciation whenever the circumstances justified." "I ask no quarter from the coterie driven now into a single covey by a common cause made against progress and humanitarian laws, but I request public indulgence while speaking with a plainness and directness which conditions warrant," states the governor.

Letters written to C. C. Meekison by the governor long before the referendum fight situation became acute and relating to a referendum movement are presented in the statement. In these letters Governor Cox declared that if there were to be any referendum on Wayne law it must be a contest purely on the merits of the proposition. The governor also declared that the administration was not opposed to an honest referendum.

RULES FOR CENTRALIZED SCHOOLS DOWN IN WAYNE

General Rules and Regulations of the Board of Education for the Centralized Schools of Wayne Township—School Opens in Handsome New Buildings Within Next Few Days—List of Teachers for New Schools.

Within the next few days the handsome new centralized school buildings in Wayne township, one at Good Hope and the other near Cisen, will be completed and the doors will be thrown open for school once more. The half score of small school buildings have been supplanted by the two new structures costing approximately $55,000, and Wayne township is now in a better condition to educate her children than any other township in the county, as the pupils will be banded to and from school, and the very best of educational facilities offered, including a strong corps of teachers.

For several weeks school has been held back while the fixtures and heating plants were under course of installation. Wayne township citizens are proud of their educational facilities, and it has been widely predicted that after the centralization has once been thoroughly tested in the township and its advantages become apparent, other progressive townships in the county will adopt the centralized plan.

The following general rules and regulations, together with the names of the Board of Education and the corps of teachers, will be of more than passing interest.

GENERAL RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE WAYNE TOWNSHIP CENTRALIZED SCHOOLS.

1. The school laws are bound in a separate volume and may be had free by applying at the County Auditor's office or sending to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Columbus, Ohio.

2. We especially refer patrons to Sections 7763, 7765, 7768 and Section 7731.

Sec. 7743. Every parent, guardian or other person having charge of any child between the ages of eight and fifteen years of age if male, and sixteen years of age, if a female, must send such child to a public, private parochial school, for the full time that the school attended is in session, which shall in no case be for less than twenty-eight weeks. Such attendance must begin within the first week of the school term, unless the child is excused therefrom by the superintendent of the public schools.

Sec. 7745. No boy under sixteen years of age and no girl under eighteen years of age, shall be employed or be in the employment of any person, company or corporation unless such child presents to such person, company or corporation an age and school certificate herein provided for, as a condition of employment. Such employer shall keep the same on file in the establishment where such minor is employed for inspection by the truant officer or officers of the department of workshops and factories.

Sec. 7748. Every child between the ages of eight and fifteen years, if a male, or between the ages of eight and sixteen years, if a female, and every male child between the ages of fifteen and sixteen years not engaged in some regular employment, who is an habitual truant from school, or who absents himself habitually from school or who, while in attendance at any public, private, or parochial school, is in corrigible, vicious or immoral conduct, or who habitually wanders around the streets and public places during school hours having no business or lawful occupation, or violates any of the provisions of this act, shall be deemed a delinquent child, and shall be subject to the provisions of law relating to delinquent children.

Sec. 7741. When transportation of pupils is provided for the conveyance must pass within at least the distance of one-half of a mile from the respective residence of all pupils, except when such residences are situated more than one-half of a mile from the public road. But the transportation for pupils living less than one and one-half miles, by the most direct public highway, from the school house shall be optional with the board of education. (R. S. Sec. 3922.)

RULES FOR THE BOARD.

RULES FOR THE SUPERINTENDENT.

1. The Superintendent shall be the executive officer of the Board and it is his duty to carry on the school business in as efficient a manner as is in his power. Because of the many and varied duties of this office it is impossible to bound him with strict rules of action and the Board will only interfere when it can be clearly shown that he has been guilty of gross neglect, immorality, inefficiency or discrimination.
2. He shall see that all rules of janitors, drivers, teachers and principals are obeyed and stand ready to counsel and aid them in their duties.
3. He shall kindly and quietly hear all complaints that are brought to him and examine into the same on their merits, but in no case need he listen to complaints on the street or to personal abuse.
4. He shall visit rooms, direct teachers, classify pupils, inspect the buildings, meet the Board, build a system of accounting and reporting, attend to truants, meet the discipline, build a course for the schools of Wayne Township and be active in raising these schools to a place second to none in the state.
5. He shall secure substitutes in case of illness of other teachers or take such other measures as may seem best to provide continuous schooling for every child. He shall provide for commencement and such examinations and tests as are necessary.
6. He shall teach at least four half days out of every week.
7. The Superintendent, and in his absence the Principal, must keep the buildings free from all peddlers, agents, distributors of bills. No public announcements shall be made unless they are educational in nature and no ticket selling schemes among the pupils shall be countenanced. There shall be no treating to pupils or presents to teachers allowed.
8. Appropriate morning exercises shall be held under the Superintendent's direction, some part of which must consist of a portion of the Scripture or the Lord's Prayer.

9. In cases of emergency the Superintendent shall act on his best judgment and call the Board together for further action.

RULES FOR TEACHERS

1. The law in defining the duty of teachers makes it plain that the teacher stands in the same relation to the pupil while in school as the parent bears in the home, and the courts in their decisions have ever upheld this view. The teacher, therefore, must conduct herself in such a manner as will win the confidence and esteem of such pupils as can be won by such methods as appeal to the better natures and in those cases where the pupil cannot be won by moral moral suasion, she must find methods suitable to the occasion, avoiding cruel or unusual punishments and using those punishments that humiliate the spirit as little as possible.

2. Teachers shall work under the direction of the Superintendent and in cooperation with the other teachers, but in their work they use their individuality and push ahead, clearly showing that they wish to place the school on a high plane.

3. Each teacher shall have authority over her own room, shall take the share of hall, basement or ground work assigned, shall be respected by all the pupils and obeyed by the pupils of other rooms the same as her own.

4. Teachers shall promptly report cases of sickness or indisposition of the pupils in subordination and delinquency, shortage of supplies or books, lack of heat or ventilation and in every way attempt to promote harmony and efficiency.

5. The teachers shall look upon the Superintendent as their superior officer and at all times may ask his advice and demand his protection and in case of disagreement they may appeal to the Board without prejudice.

RULES FOR DRIVERS

1. The driver shall have a schedule that he shall follow as closely as possible. He shall give warning of his approach at each residence of pupils by a horn or bell and he shall not be detained more than two minutes at each stop.

2. During the discharge of their duties drivers must not be under the influence of intoxicants, must not use profane, indecent or suggestive language nor permit the pupils to use the same. There shall be no smoking in the wagons.

3. The driver is invested with sufficient authority to secure discipline in the wagons, and he shall see that there is no belated talk or disorderly actions among the pupils. He shall report cases of insubordination to the Principal or Superintendent and he need not attend to the complaints of the parents, but shall refer them to the Superintendent.

4. Drivers shall not pick up wayfarers; they may haul teachers.

5. In matters of dispute, the Superintendent shall be the umpire and any suggestions for the convenience of the pupils or to the necessity or advantage of the drivers will be taken by him to the Board, there to be finally settled.

RULES FOR JANITORS

1. The janitor shall have equal authority with the teachers in preserving discipline in the basement, halls, and grounds and shall report to the Principal or Superintendent any infraction against the order or welfare of the schools that may come to his notice.

2. He shall visit the outhouses at least twice a day and use all diligence in keeping them free from marks and defacement; he shall keep them clean and disinfect them once a week.

3. The rooms and halls shall be swept once each day and mopped once each week, the seats shall be dusted and the boards changed, the windows shall be kept clean and the snow shall be kept from the walks.

4. The rooms shall be brought to a temperature of at least 60 degrees Fahrenheit at 8 a. m. in standard time, and shall be maintained at 70 degrees Fahrenheit while in session.

5. The janitor is the custodian of the Board of Education and as such shall hold the keys. He shall prohibit loitering on the school premises and shall have control of the boiler and storage rooms, the fire escapes, the grounds, the wagon sheds, the closets, the fresh air rooms, the gongs.

6. The Superintendent, or in his absence the Principal, shall be the janitor's superior and in case of disagreement the janitor may appeal without prejudice to the Board.

RULES FOR PUPILS

1. Pupils must start the first week of school; all will be admitted between 6 and 21; a pupil shall be counted as 6 years of age when the six years of his life is completed before the holidays at Christmas.

2. Written excuses may be required of pupils for all absences.

3. Pupils shall not throw missiles, deface property, use foul, vulgar or profane language, use tobacco while on the grounds or in the building.

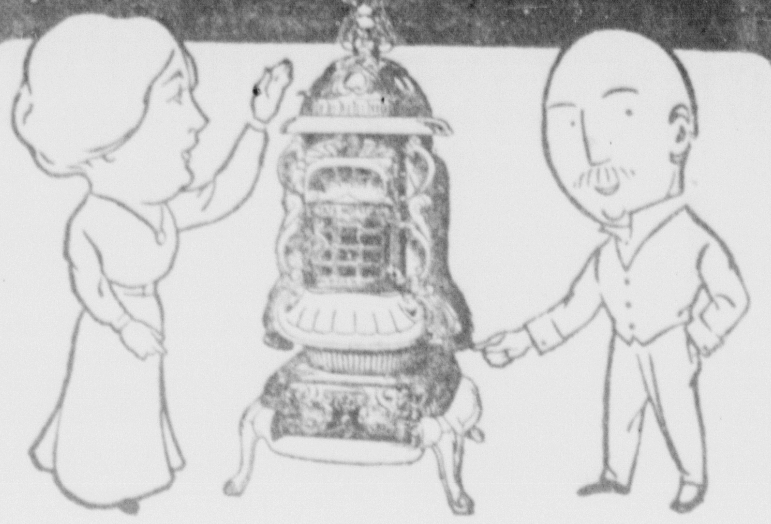

4. Pupils that are brought in wagons shall not without the teacher's particular permission, leave the grounds at noon or recess.

5. Pupils are answerable to their teachers for their actions on their way to and from school. Every pupil shall be judged as an individual and shall not be allowed to justify himself by another's acts.

6. Cleanliness will be insisted upon among the pupils. Soap and water will be found in the basement.

7. Pupils must be kind and courteous to each other and to their teachers. If a clan or league against any teacher or pupil is discovered the chief offenders shall be brought before the Superintendent and Board for discipline.

8. It is the purpose of the Board of Education to extend the privileges of an education to every pupil in this Township and to add to these privileges as fast as the pupils are able to receive them. Let every pupil help to make these schools the foremost in the state.

Some Circulation!

YOU wouldn't believe it—no one does until he learns by actual experience—that the circulation of hot air produced by the "little furnace" in the Estate Hot Storm is as powerful as you find in the ordinary furnace.

But just try to hold your hand over the discharge ports of an Estate Hot Storm when it's fired up full, and you'll be quickly convinced.

Estate Hot Storm

—the heating stove with a "little furnace" in it works like a furnace because it's built like one. Air drawn into the "little furnace" through pipes on both sides of the stove, is heated to a very high temperature, and then discharged from the top of the stove, either into the room in which the stove sets, or into a pipe to conduct the heat to the upper floor.

This distinctive feature of the Estate Hot Storm's construction should be reason enough for you to give this stove the preference, but there are other reasons almost equally important. The Estate Patented Jointless Ash Box insures perfect fire control throughout the life of the stove; the Estate Tubular Hot Blast Attachment gets out of the fuel every atom of heat that's in it; the Estate Double Strength Single Fire Pot, Estate Patented Anti-Buckling Ring, etc., all contribute to make the Estate Hot Storm the strongest, longest-lived, most powerful and economical heater that has ever been built.

Make up your mind to "Own an Estate" this season and make it an Estate Hot Storm—the stove with a "little furnace" in it. We'll be glad to explain the construction to you at any time.

Volturno's Crew Left Ship First, Behaving Badly, Say Passengers

Carmia, before he became seriously ill. He declared the crew were the first to leave the ship.

Trintepohl had been employed at Barcelona and took third-class passage on the Volturno to secure a position offered him in New York. "All went well," said Trintepohl, "until 5 o'clock Thursday morning, when the fire alarm sounded. We were aroused and told to go on deck, as fire had broken out in the hold. On assembling life belts were handed around and much time was occupied in fastening them. We were told that the fire might soon be quenched, but the captain thought it wise for all to have belts as a precaution. The fire frightened the children, who cried bitterly. There were many babies in arms. The fire grew worse. We saw things blazing down below. About 10 o'clock there was a cry to lower the boats. The captain behaved splendidly. So did the officers. I am sorry to say that the crew behaved very badly. The people rushed about wildly, and the crew began to drink, instead of quieting the passengers they made the panic worse."

LONG LIST OF CRIME FIXED

ACCUSED OF MANY BOMB-SETTING JOBS

New York Police Checking Up Confessions of Suspects.

New York, Oct. 13.—The police have checked up the confessions made by seven of the gang of bomb-throwers who were arrested last week, and are now in a position to accuse the gang of 68 bomb-setting jobs. There are plenty of other crimes charged against the prisoners, such as extortion, burglary, felonious assault, arson, and the federal authorities suspect them of counterfeiting. The gang is not new, according to the statements made by one of the detectives who has been working on the case. One of the men has belonged to it for the last 14 years, and the gang is held responsible for many outrages which were committed before the men who have confessed joined it. The membership of the gang was constantly changed. When a member was killed or sent to jail, or went back to Italy with enough money for the rest of his life, new members were taken in and those of the gang were kept about the same. The police estimated the profits of the gang. They are not large, each member made probably less than $100 a month. If the gang is responsible for 80 bomb outrages during the past year and a half, which is a fair estimate, the police do not believe more than 50 of them paid, the others being performed against men who would not pay the blackmail demanded, or for petty revenge. Some of the bombs were placed in small places, the police say, where the gang got only $50. Others paid larger, some of them letting the gang $500 to $800. As the police have already arrested 12 men and are looking for at least two more, each member's share was not great.

40,000 IN PARADE

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 13.—Forty thousand men, members of the Holy Name society, participated in its annual parade as a protest against profanity. The National league baseball park was utilized for one of the strangest and most solemn scenes in its history when the marchers lined up on the sidewalks and outfield, listened to a sermon and knelt to receive a benediction pronounced by Archbishop Moeller.

Henry A. Johnston, a business man of L'Anse, Mich., writes: "For years Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds has been our family medicine. We give it to our children who like it on account of its pleasant taste. It is a safe cure for coughs and colds." It contains no opiates. Blackmer & Tanquary, adv.

HUGE MOTOR TRUCK WILL GIVE THE TOWNS DIRECT CONNECTION WITH THE BAKER TRACTION LINE

George W. Baker Places Order for a 35-Passenger Motor Bus to Connect Jeffersonville and South Solon to His Road.

SPRINGFIELD MERCHANTS ARE GREATLY PLEASED.

Regular Trips to Be Made Between South Charleston and Jeffersonville by Way of South Solon and Passengers Will Not Be Compelled to Depend on the D. T. & I. for Transportation.

Not to be thwarted in his efforts to give South Solon and Jeffersonville an outlet other than the D. T. & I. railroad, George W. Baker has placed an order with the Kelly Motor Truck company of Springfield for a 35-passenger auto truck to be placed in commission between Jeffersonville and South Charleston, passing through South Solon and hauling passengers and baggage to South Charleston where connection with the Springfield & Washington traction line will be made.

Under present plans the bus will make regular trips between the points mentioned, and will be an added inducement for citizens of the two towns to patronize the Springfield stores.

A nominal charge is to be made to carry passengers between the points above mentioned, and they will then pay regular fare over the Baker line, so that it will benefit from the bus service even if the bus is run at a loss.

Whether the bus service will have a tendency to turn any extensive volume of trade from this city, remains to be seen. However it is a well known fact that Washington stores are as popular with the citizens in the two communities as are the Springfield stores.

The project of extending the traction to this city has been temporarily abandoned by Mr. Baker, who bases his failure on the disinterested spirit met with at this point in raising the amount desired to help make the extension.

CROWN PRINCE OF SWEDEN MAY BE CALLED TO THRONE

CROWN PRINCE OF SWEDEN AND CHILD

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf will become king of Sweden if the illness of his father, King Gustav V., turns out fatal. Prince Gustaf married in 1905 Princess Margaret of Connaught, daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and they have three sons and one daughter. Prince Gustaf is shown here with his daughter, Princess Ingrid.

CHRONIC COLDS

Are Contracted by Changeable Weather, a Simple Remedy.

Sudden changes are particularly trying for old people or those who suffer from a weakened, run-down condition, chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis, but if such persons would only apply common sense methods in the treatment of their condition much discomfort and suffering might be avoided.

The most essential thing to do is to build up strength, enrich the blood, increase vital resistance and to accomplish this nothing equals Vinol, our cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. M. J. Grimes of Springfield, Ohio, says: "I was badly run-down, nervous and weak, and while in this condition I contracted a heavy cold and rheumatism. Vinol was recommended and I am happy to say it cured my cold and restored me to health again."

Old people, delicate children, run-down, overworked and tired women, those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds should try a bottle of Vinol. We will return your money if it does not help you. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

DEATH OF JOHN WARNECKE

After an illness of six months, during which quick consumption made deadly progress, Mr. John Warnecke, Jr., passed quietly away at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at his home on the Bogus road.

Last May Mr. Warnecke was compelled by failing health to give up the position of cashier at the C. H. & D. office, which he had filled with great efficiency for the past 12 years, and has since been steadily going down.

Only a year ago last month he was wedded to Miss Nellie Coventry and a married life which promised to be unusually happy is sadly shattered so soon after its beginning.

Through his months of illness the wife gave the utmost devotion and did everything possible towards his restoration to health. In her loss and sorrow she has the deep sympathy of many friends.

Mr. Warnecke was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warnecke, of this city, and also leaves a brother, Ed and sister, Carrie. John Warnecke was one of those dependable, genuine men, who won the respect of all who knew him. He was held in high regard in his business associations and his untimely death will be mourned with sincere regret.

The funeral services will be held at the home on the Bogus road Tuesday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Ross officiates and burial in Washington cemetery.

TUDOR STILL IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Paul Tudor is still in the county jail unable to give $300 bond standing between him and temporary freedom.

His father, Alphonso Tudor, of Greenfield called upon him Saturday morning and gave him a supply of wearing apparel.

Tudor still refuses to give any further light on the circumstances surrounding the shooting.

He still suffers from the bullet wound in his right shoulder, and also a pain in his left side below the heart. He believes that the bullet is resting at the point of the pain below his heart, but the real cause may be attributed to the fact that he has been resting in a half reclining position.

DUNDON INDICTED FOR HORSE STEALING

Virgil Dundon, the young man arrested in this city late in July charged with the theft of George Curry's horse, near New Holland, was indicted by the Pickaway county grand jury.

Dundon comes from a respectable family near New Holland, and his act was a surprise to all who knew him.

Thirteen other indictments were returned by the same grand jury, including one against Frank Delong, of the same neighborhood where Dundon lives. Delong was indicted for passing forged checks to the amount of $85.

EXPECT DOWNFALL OF HUERTA REGIME WITHIN TWO DAYS

Washington, October 13.—An agent of the Carranzaista headquarters at Washington, who arrived here yesterday from Mexico City, reports that the disappearance of Senator Hellizario Dominguez, said to have been caused at the instance of Huerta will cause the immediate downfall of the Huerta government.

This agent, fresh from the seat of trouble and danger, says that, even among Huerta's supporters the rumored death of Senator Dominguez will be regarded as a deliberate murder, and that the Senator probably is only one of a number on the dictator's "list of proscriptions."

It is declared that the citizens of Mexico City are tired of the turmoil and the constant reign of terror. The cafes and theaters are full of agents of the Carranzaista government in the disguise of Huertaists.

The clubs contain many secret followers of Carranza and it may be said that the whole city is honeycombed with persons who are waiting for the overthrow of Huerta's regime, expected at any moment.

One of the leading members of the Carranzaista headquarters has said: "We know that there is a great reserve and also that secret forces favorable to Carranza are everywhere in the city of Mexico and perhaps in greater numbers in the city of Vera Cruz. This fact, as to the latter city, must be well known to John Lind, special agent of President Wilson."

"It is simply impossible that an anti crisis should not be precipitated within the next 48 hours. It can only be followed by a call to Carranza to proceed to Mexico City, in which event we believe the Huertista armies in the North will follow him or that Carranza and his armies will concentrate and march on the capital."

CREATIST AMERICAN VIOLINIST, COLUMBUS, OCT. 16.

First of the several eminent violinists, announced for American tours this year is Francis Macmillen, who has been acclaimed by Europe as the greatest American violinist. With true Buckeye pride he has arranged that the very first concert of his tour, which will embrace the entire United States, shall be given in Ohio.

In this series he comes to Columbus Thursday evening, October 16, and will be heard at Memorial hall. A large number of local music lovers are arranging to attend. For their accommodation the Columbus management has agreed to accord all mail orders the same attention given to those who secure tickets in person. While the maximum price of seats will be $2.00, there are a great many that will be available for 50c and 75c.

This is the first time that Macmillen has appeared in Ohio in 40 years. In the interval he has conquered all the capitals of Europe, and been the subject of most abundant praise from the greatest critics of all art centers—as a result of this there is an extraordinary eagerness to hear him, and indications point to a very large attendance.

The program will be as follows:

1. Symphonie Espagnole, Lalo
2. Allegro non troppo
- Andante
- Finale
- (a) Andantine
- Padre Martini-Kreisler
- (b) Humoresque, Ter Aulin
- (c) Serenade, Arensky
- (d) Tango, Fernandez-Arbes
- (e) Ave Maria, Schubert-Wilhelm
- (f) Ave Maria
- (g) Schubert-Wilhelm
- (h) Humoresque, Dvorak
- (i) Zapateado, Sarasate
- Introduction et Tarantelle, Sarasate

DIES IN BATHTUB

Cleveland, O., Oct. 13.—Henry W. Judd, wealthy retired business man and director in several local corporations, was scalded to death in his bathtub. His body was found several hours later by his wife. Mr. Judd's bath had been prepared by a colored maid, and it is supposed that he fell into the bathtub and was unable, because of his enfeebled condition, to climb out.

S. S. Class of the Christian Church

TUESDAY NITE, OCT. 14

MEMORIAL HALL, 7:30 o'clock

A REGULAR SIDE SPLITTER

Oh, You Funny Clothes

The costumes for the "Singin' Skule Begiment" next Tuesday night will be funny enough to be worth the price of admission if the "skollars don't do anything but wear them." Some have seen service for more than fifty years, while others are as dainty as the comical ones are funny. The "Singin' Skule" simply has to be seen to be appreciated.

Admission :: :: 25c To All

Tickets can be Secured From Any Member of the Sunday School Class.

BATTING AVERAGE
EXPLAINS WINNING

Philadelphia, Oct. 12. The official averages of all players participating in the world's series contests, as given out here by Francis J. Richter and J. G. Taylor Spink, official scorers, show that the Athletics lasted for an average of .264, while the New York Giants hit at an average of .261. Eddie Collins, batting average for the five games is .421 and that of Baker, .459. Spink, who worked in two games, led the New York attack with an average of .333.

SEAT HOLDERS
DRAW FORTUNEATHLETICS REFUND
FIFTY THOUSANDVictorious Players Scatter to All Points of the Compass.

Philadelphia, Oct. 12. — Because it was not necessary to play a third game of the world's series in this city, tickets for which had already been sold, the Athletics club refunded to day approximately $45,000 to purchasers. All purchasers of tickets for contests here were compelled to buy coupons for three games, and not more than two sets of tickets were sold to one person.

The world's series won, the victorious Athletics scattered to different sections of the country, probably not to gather again until the spring training trip. Some all members of the team had made arrangements for their vacations before the starting of the championship contests with the Giants. Collins is going on a hunting trip in Pennsylvania, while Baker, Bender and Spink will try their luck at shooting in Maryland. Eddie Plank, who held the New York club to two hits in the final game Saturday, has already gone to his farm at Gettysburg, and O'Brien says he will devote his time to forgetting baseball.

Manager John McGraw of the Giants appeared before the commission and filed the list of players who will begin the globe-trotting tour, which starts here Thursday. The first stop will be Cincinnati, where the teams will play the first exhibition on Saturday.

Members of the Giants and Athletics who "write" for newspapers during the world's series were notified today to submit their contracts to the commission immediately. Incidentally, in a talk with the commission McGraw, though a writer himself, said, "I am against this player author business and always have opposed it." But when I found that many players were getting easy money in this manner, I naturally concluded to get some myself. But it is all out of order and the commission is right in putting a stop to it."

Heartbreaking Moment In Ten Inning Struggle
Of Second World's Series Game and General View.

Photos copyright, 1933, by American Press Association.

Thousands of baseball fans who jammed Shibe park, Philadelphia, raved like madmen during the critical moments of the second game of the world's series between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Athletics. The top picture here gives a general view of the field looking from the grand stand with the ten inning game in progress. Plank, the Athletics pitcher, is trying to catch Doyle, captain of the Giants, at first base. A section of the bleachers is seen. In the bottom picture is pictured one of the most exciting plays in the game. Strunk is seen being tagged out at the plate by McLean on a perfect throw from Wittke in the sensational rally of the Athletics in the ninth inning.

SPICY SPORT CHATS.

Johnny Condon, the bantamweight champion, is about through. He is a sick man, and it is doubtful if he ever will be able to stand up under the punishment of a twenty round match with a new virile youngster like Williams. The writer is reliably informed by an intimate of Condon's that the little fellow is practically through for good. The next man he attempts to meet over the twenty round distance will surely defeat him, the "infor" has it.

In connection with the Wootton-Sieger case there has been discussion all over England of what is termed the American style of riding, alluded to as the "monkey crouch." It is said that Tod Sloan took the style to London sixteen years ago, and almost all the jockeys have taken it up since.

The chief criticism seems to be that, although shortening the leathers, which brings the jockey out of the ordinary seat, enables him to climb up on the horse's neck, lightens the horse's burden and increases his speed, the jockey is not able to control his mount, as in the past.

APPLEGARTH'S STANDING.

Noted English Sprinting Champion Is Under Suspicion.

England may lose her star sprinter before the time for the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin rolls around. W. R. Applegarth, of the Polytechnic Harriers, by long odds the greatest sprinter that England has developed in the last decade, is under suspicion as to his amateur standing, and it is a pretty well known fact that the officials of the Amateur Athletic association are seriously considering starting something in Applegarth's direction. Applegarth is a messenger by profession, and as such he is supposed to draw down a very small stipend. Despite this fact, since he has become prominent as an athlete Applegarth has been able to be away from his work a great deal and has become nearly as famous as a tourist in England and Scotland as has Secretary Bryan in this country. In England athletes are not allowed to accept car fare expenses from the promoters of athletic games, and the English officials are considering asking Applegarth where he gets the money to do so much traveling.

The British officials never start an inquiry as to an athlete's amateur standing until they have "the goods" on the man they are after. Therefore, if Applegarth is called before an investigation board, it is fair to assume that he will walk the plank, as Alfred Shrubbs did several years ago.
